RITUAL SPELLBOOK & WITCH CLASS

Fumble Folks Retail Catalogue

Who are we?

We are a small company based in Cardiff who create content for Dungeons & Dragons.

Founded during lockdown 2021, we have expanded quickly, producing four one-shot adventures and a number of small supplements for 5th edition, and successfully funded and fulfilled a Kickstarter.

We have attended many conventions, including the UK Games EXPO 2023, where we launched our kickstarted book, The Ritual Spellbook & Witch Class for 5e.

Why sell to stores?

We are ambitious and wish to grow even further. We want to make sure that nerds accross the UK, Europe and internationally see our products and are able to purchase them.

What makes our products stand out from other 5th edition books and supplements?

Of course, we believe that we have produced brilliant products, but we also think that all our releases fill a gap that people want.

As an example, our Beginner's Bundle is aimed at brand new GMs to try their hand at running a game of D&D for the first time, and our Ritual Spellbook & Witch Class came to fruition after feeling that role-playing as a spellcaster was lacking.

Our products also look and feel high-quality. Bree has been working as a graphic designer since graduating from university, and loves to produce professional-looking, easy-to-read publications.

There is no minimum order for retailers, and we offer free UK shipping on orders over £100.

We are currently not VAT registered, however, the only product we have that would qualify for VAT is our range of greetings cards.

The Ritual Spellbook & Witch Class

A 128-page supplement for D&D 5e designed to enhance spellcasting roleplay, and introduces the Witch as a new class, with four subclasses; Clairvoyant, Eclectic, Shaman and Voodoo. The book also includes over 50 original spells, new mechanics for advanced spellcasting, backgrounds and two new subclasses, the Witch Hunter fighter subclass and Way of the Occult monk subclass.

Launched in November as a Kickstarter, it was successfully funded within 14 hours and sold well at this year's UK Games Expo in Birmingham NEC.

The hardcover comes with gold foiling on the cover (images on next page).

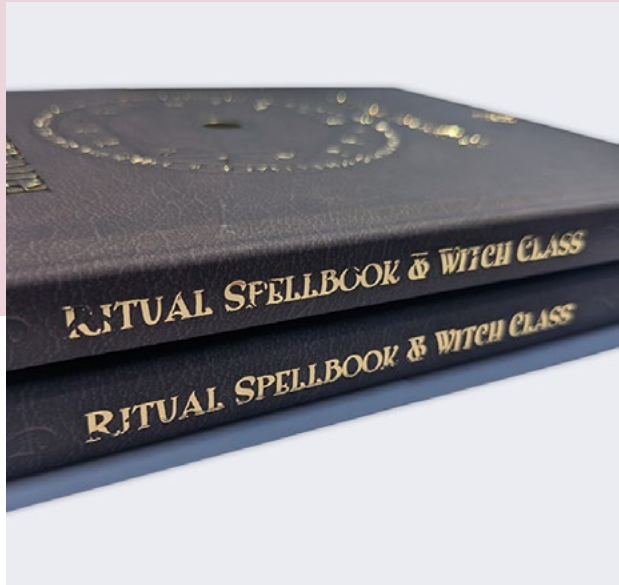

Retailer discount on these books is 40% because they were printed at Gomer Press in Wales rather than abroad.

Picked up my rewards today at UKGE and they look fantastic! I've really enjoyed looking through the book and seeing how much thought and care has gone into making the product. Congrats to the whole Fumble Folks team for a wonderful Kickstarter - can't wait to see what comes next!

Introducing Tarot Readings into your TTRPGs

Based on real-life tarot, this small 8-page A5 booklet contains instructions on how to conduct a tarot reading at your game table. The tarot table includes all 22 major arcana cards and the aces from the minor arcana deck (upright and reversed). It is system agnostic and requires only a d4 and a d12 in order to use, or—of course—a tarot deck.

Beginner's Bundle

Each one-shot is designed to be a 3–4 hour long adventure for 4–6 players. Each adventure takes the players through levels 1–3, and they are designed to be easy to read and follow. Designed for new GMs as well as new players, each book is laid out clearly to make them very easy to pick up and play.

Note: These books don't have ISBNs, and Waters of Life currently has no barcode. This will change in the next print-run.

Great story. Recently started Dnd games with a group and in case of absentees or sick the players can be the Game master once and 'The Great Gift Giver' was for me as an amateur very good to translate into a fun side quest. When it's my turn as GM in the future, I will turn to Fumble Folks again.

Relic of the Lost Kingdom

The nearby monastery asks the characters for help as they are hounded by the undead every night. A stolen icon may be to blame, and the characters must return it or risk facing the wrath of the undead.

I got to be the DM for the first time. We just wrapped up Relic. I had such a great time! The story plot was easy, left plenty of room for adding to the story and developing the NPCs. I just saw that there's another addition and will be buying that too! The sellers were so friendly and I highly recommend.

Raiders From Above

Along the charming coastline of Lowensoft, townsfolk of all ages are slowly disappearing, never to be seen again. At daybreak and dusk, beautiful angelic singing can be heard on the distant wind. The sounds seem to captivate all who hear it.

These booklets are wonderful. Great quality, beautifully designed and written, and perfect for a one or two session game. My husband was thrilled and we've played all three.

The Waters of Life

The local Reeve (Sheriff) of Walenberg has hired the party to investigate an illness spreading around their town. As the party investigates, they discover that the settlement's main water supply has been poisoned and must fix the situation.

We played this with some friends on New Year's Eve, and we had a blast! The campaign was easy to DM and it was so much fun both as a DM and for the players. I will definitely look into the other campaigns for future DnD parties!

The Great Gift Giver

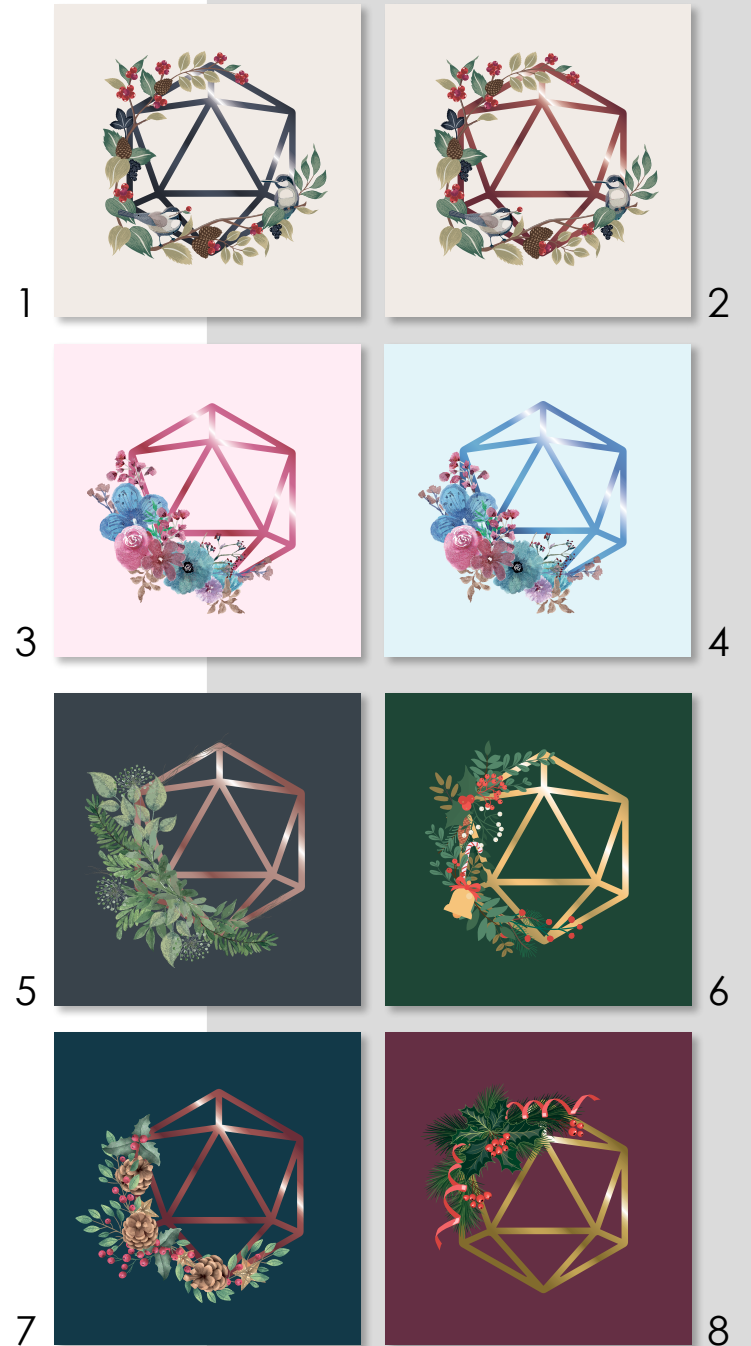

This festive adventure is a level 5 one-shot set in the frigid north. A kindly old gnome asks the party for help in saving his workshop from his son Beffrey Jazos and stop him from becoming the Prime Gift Giver. Surprisingly, this one-shot remains popular, having sold steadily throughout the year.

Greetings Cards

These greetings cards have an elegant d20 design and can be used for a variety of different occasions such as birthdays, Christmas, christenings or weddings as the insides are left blank. They can be sold individually or together. Includes plain white envelopes and compostable wraps.
